

HOW MUCH VALUE STAYED HOME THIS BREAK

Market value of the best XI each nation left out this break. The % shows how close it comes to the value of the top XI called up. Age refers to the excluded XI.

	NATION	EXCLUDED XI	% OF CALLED UP	AVG AGE
1	 ENGLAND Called-up XI €894.4M	€587.4M	65.7%	25.8
2	 BRAZIL Called-up XI €642.9M	€585.2M	91.0%	25.4
3	 SPAIN Called-up XI €1,129.7M	€547.2M	48.4%	23.6
4	 FRANCE Called-up XI €1,045.3M	€540.7M	51.7%	23.5
5	 GERMANY Called-up XI €742.9M	€484.2M	65.2%	25.7
6	 PORTUGAL Called-up XI €685.7M	€446.2M	65.1%	24.1
7	 NETHERLANDS Called-up XI €570.5M	€400.8M	70.3%	25.6
8	 ARGENTINA Called-up XI €712.2M	€357.2M	50.2%	24.7
9	 ITALY Called-up XI €479.8M	€304.3M	63.4%	25.2
10	 BELGIUM Called-up XI €429.6M	€242.1M	56.4%	24.6
11	 CROATIA Called-up XI €351.5M	€93.8M	26.7%	25.5

England's excluded XI is the most valuable at €587.4M. Brazil's, at €585.2M, is worth 91.0% of its called-up XI. France's is the youngest, at 23.5, while Croatia leave out the least, €93.8M.

Excluded value = market value of players available for selection but not called up to the senior national team during the September/October 2026 international window. Players unavailable through injury and players called up at any point during the window are excluded from the calculation.